

QUARTERMASTER MADE DIVISION COMMANDER

Maj. Bump Goes From Fort
Oglethorpe to Camp McArthur, 'Way Down in Texas.

Maj. A. L. Bump, former chief of staff of the Lytle Q. M. C., gave over control of his office Wednesday to Maj. M. H. Shute, who was formerly constructing engineer of the Q. M. C. There will be no further change in the personnel of the office.

Maj. Bump has been transferred to Camp McArthur, in Texas, where he will assume command of the Fifty-sixth Infantry. Maj. Bump has the distinction of having risen from the ranks. He was a sergeant in the signal corps when he received his commission in the regular army, July 1, 1901.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray! Nobody Can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—(Adv.)

and the brow of a thinker. For instance, he has been a member of the infantry national rifle team during three years in 1905 and 1911 the teams on which he shot took second place. Since 1905 he has been an expert rifleman, and since 1911 he has had the title of distinguished marksman. But all this could be omitted when it is said that Maj. Bump belonged to Theodore Roosevelt's rough riders. A. L. Bump was not a major then; he was just Bump, a unit of the outfit which slipped a picturesque page into American history. During the Cuban campaign Maj. Bump was wounded in the leg at Santiago. Since that time the major's service record reads like the proceedings of a geographical society. He was in the Philippines for six years, a year in China, three years in Hawaii and nine months in Mexico with Black Jack Pershing.

As a shift from land work, in 1910, Maj. Bump was in command of the United States army transport Mix, which ran between Seattle, Honolulu and Manila.

Socially, Maj. Bump is a good listener. Even in a consultation with his subordinates the little men talk and Maj. Bump listens. Behind his attention hides a brief sardonic humor. There are two signs posted by the major in the Q. M. C. headquarters. No doubt they will remain after he has gone to Texas and to Timbuctoo. They read:

"Please slam the door—thank you."

"All officers and men are requested to drape themselves over this desk."

WARDEN McLEAN NOW SANITATION SCHOOL

Camp Warden McLean, so long the headquarters of the R. O. T. C., was informally turned over to the medical Tuesday. The whole camp is now under control of Col. Page, who is in command of the division hospital and sanitary trains. Col. Page, it will be recalled, was the founder of Camp Greenleaf. This teacher began classes for incoming army medics in what is now the greatest medical training camp in the world. It has always been Col. Page's dream to see Camp Greenleaf what it now is, the dominant factor in Chickamauga park. With the retiring of all arms of the service from Camp Forrest, the colonel has seen his dream realized.

CHAMLEE AND WATSON TO BE O. K'D. BY G. O. P. COMMITTEE, SAY DOPESTERS

Republican Executive Committee Meeting to Precede Love Feast
Saturday — G. Russell Brown or S. Bartow Strang Slated for Chairman.

Republicans have been reasonably generous in endorsing nominees of the democratic party to fill the judiciary and county offices, according to politicians, but the latest rumor in political circles is to the effect that the executive committee of the G. O. P. will complete the job begun by the convention of last Saturday and go the "whole hog." It is predicted that when the committee meets at the courthouse next Saturday morning, Mon. George W. Chamlee will be endorsed for attorney-general and the republican stamp of approval will be placed on Charles E. Watson's candidacy for an endorsement of his record as county court clerk.

Chairman John Tinker and Secretary Ansel Gadd, of the republican county committee, are preparing to call the committee to meet Saturday morning, probably at 9 o'clock. At this meeting a chairman and secretary will be chosen to serve for the next two years. G. Russell Brown and S. Bartow Strang are being mentioned in connection with the chairmanship and those in position to feel the political pulse of the committee say that it is practically certain that one of them will be chosen.

At the convention last Saturday the question of making nominations for attorney-general and county court clerk was referred to the executive committee with power to act. The only candidate who was ever seriously considered as an opponent of Mr. Chamlee for attorney-general was Joe V. Brown. Mr. Brown withdrew from the race prior to the convention. Talk of an independent candidate with the endorsement of the republican party was rife in political circles for several days, but after carefully viewing the situation and taking into consideration the remarkable strength shown by Mr. Chamlee in the democratic primary aspirants with an eye in the office of attorney-general have unanimously reached the conclusion that the signs are not right.

But for a misunderstanding, Mr. Watson's candidacy would likely have been endorsed when the bouquets were being thrown at democrats in profuse fashion. Two candidates were mentioned in connection with the race for county court clerk, but neither allowed their friends to bring their names before the convention. T. Carter, groomed by many republicans for this position, decided that Mr. Watson's record in office and the fact that the democratic nominee is merely asking for a second term, made the nomination at the hands of the republicans a gift of doubtful value, and Walter T. Wood, also prominently mentioned as a candidate to succeed Mr. Watson, took the same view.

Members of the republican committee, it is said, take the position that if no candidates care to offer for these offices the democratic nominees should be treated in the same manner as the remainder of the democratic ticket which has no opposition. It is, therefore, considered extremely probable that the committee, when it meets Saturday, will have another bouquet or two to hand out.

Efforts are being made to have the notification meeting scheduled for 9 o'clock in the chancery courtroom postponed to a later hour, with the idea that there may be more "notifying" to do. This notification meeting is the first of the kind ever held in Hamilton county and a large audience is expected to be on hand when the committee appointed by Judge P. H. Thatch breaks the news to Judges Garvin and McReynolds, Oscar Yarnell, Tom Selman and Joe W. Clift that they have been adopted by the republican party and that they can spend the summer fishing or selling liberty bonds. Some of these candidates are said to have heard that they had received an endorsement. If the other two unopposed candidates are endorsed they, too, will have to be notified, and for this reason the executive committee will probably precede the "demo-republican" love feast.

Joe V. Brown, C. W. Lusk, S. J. McAllester, Charles E. Lynn and F. L. Cofer comprise the notification committee. Mr. Brown will act as chairman.

DIXIE PORTLAND MAY HAVE POTASH PLANT

American Manufacturers Becoming Independent of German Imports.

The installation of the large potash recovery plant at the Clinchfield Portland Cement corporation, located at Kingsport, has created a great deal of interest throughout this section. The great question that is being asked is whether this method of recovering potash from the shale will be a permanent industry or whether, after the war, America will depend on Germany for her supply of potash, as she did before the war. Immediately after war was declared by America on Germany these potash precipitation plants were installed at a number of the cement plants in this country, especially in the west. These plants have become very valuable and are supplying the United States with potash.

Prior to the war it has been estimated that potash sold for about $30 per ton, and now it is worth something like $165 per ton. While the cost of installation of a potash precipitator is about $125,000, they are meaning a great deal to the nation as a whole now.

The plant which has been established at Kingsport is the only one located in the south. Richard Hardy, of the Dixie Portland Cement corporation, states that they have under consideration the installation of a precipitation plant at their mills at Richland City. However, they have not deemed it advisable to install one far. He says that the percentage of potassium found in the shale at the mills at the Tennessee plant is equal to that found at Clinchfield.

The system which is used is what is known as the Cottrell or electrical process. There is also what is known as a spray system.

It will be remembered that E. Kilborn Scott, of England, who was in Chattanooga recently at the meeting of the American Electro-Chemical society, announced that he would be in charge of the large potash recovery plant at Kingsport.

AUTOS CRASH TUESDAY NIGHT ON BOULEVARD

An accident, in which some of the occupants of two big automobiles are reported to have been hurt, occurred Tuesday night on the Boulevard near Clifton Hills school building. One of the cars, a Packard, is said to have been driven by Tom Bailey, of East Chattanooga, and it is understood that Jack Fisher, president of the chauffeurs' union, was the driver of the other, a seven-passenger Chalmers. Both autos were badly damaged and were brought into the city on Wednesday for repairs. Bailey was slightly injured, and, according to the information, two soldiers were hurt.

The Packard is said to have journeyed through a field and damaged a porch into which it crashed. The porch of the house was lifted by the fractious car.

DR. WILSON ACCENTS PERSONAL WORK

Dr. Lloyd T. Wilson has aroused much interest among the leaders and workers of the Baptist Tabernacle, in his addresses of Monday and Tuesday nights. Dr. Wilson spoke last night on "Andrew Bringing His Brother, Peter, to Christ," and he made an appeal to Christians to press into the work of personal soul-winning is the greatest of the church today.

Dr. Wilson gave several reasons why every Christian should do personal work. First, on account of the harvest being white, people neglecting to go to church, and every one making so much money that they were seeking pleasure instead of Christ. The evangelist tried to impress upon his hearers that unconverted people would not stop and take time to listen to the Gospel, until the professed followers of Jesus became desperately in earnest, and began to go out in the highways and hedges, doing work in a personal way. The second reason he gave was that the laborers are few. Then he pressed the matter, saying that those who did love the Lord should throw themselves fully into the work and like Andrew, begin to bring the unconverted in a personal way to Christ. The third reason he gave was the joy that comes to the personal worker, who leads a soul to Christ, and his last reason for urging personal work was that the personal worker would be bringing another worker into the service of Christ every time one was genuinely saved and added to the church.

There will not be any day services this week in the church, but the evangelist is holding special services in the shops each day at noon. The evening service begins with song and praise, at 7:45, and Dr. Wilson preaches about 8 o'clock.

The Piggly Wiggly

Have You Visited the Piggly Wiggly Yet?

It is going to be fashionable to trade at the Piggly Wiggly. You had just as well get this straight now. Don't be behind time. Come any day to the Piggly Wiggly and get yourself in style.

A basket will be loaned to you as you enter the store. Each customer passes into the first aisle where you will find on each side a fine display of grocery articles with a price tag above each assortment. Choose what you wish, and pass through four aisles until the checker's desk is reached, where the articles will be tabulated on an adding machine, then paid for. The bundle wrapper will place the articles in a paper bag and you then pass from the store with a wrapped package clean and sanitary and paid for.

You will get home with clean, fresh groceries, and they had not been dropped on the floor, trampled or dirt spilled into them, and they had not been given to a delivery wagon, to be jolted all over town before reaching their destination. They had not been mixed with other people's groceries. They had not been mashed by someone sitting on them or stepping on them while in a delivery wagon. Nobody had been waiting at home one hour, two hours or half a day looking for her groceries that didn't come because someone else had got theirs first. They had not been left on the back porch step because nobody was there, to be at the mercy of a hide and seek game played by the cats and dogs of the neighborhood, who raced and jumped and smelt and licked and bit into some of the things. They were not thrown into the half-open door of somebody's kitchen by the impatient, tired and reckless delivery boy, who skated them clear across the floor and mixed rice with coffee and potatoes and molasses, while he ran out the yard to get in a hurry to the next stop, where he could make another scoot along the kitchen floor with somebody else's things to eat.

No, ma'am; nothing like this will happen to the Piggly Wiggly customers Saturday or any other day. Each one will get clean, sanitary groceries at prices never before had in the world from a grocery store.

"They" Said "They" Would Steal From Us

We said they wouldn't, and we meant it. There may be some downright thievery in the world, but we don't hold the average opinion that everybody is a thief except ourselves. On the contrary, we KNOW that most everybody is honest and we are willing to take our chances on the honest folks being in such a majority over those who are dishonest that we are not worried in the least about losing anything through dishonesty. We place everybody on his honor that enters our store and we believe that if you will look deep enough into any sane person's make-up you will find an honor in him who speaks to the honor spark.

"What will you do if you catch somebody stealing?" This was the next question. We answered: "We will tell him or her to go home and pray."
